Three simple steps can help save a life. The community health team at Corewell Health Gerber is offering a free training at our library. This one-hour training will show participants how to recognize the warning signs of suicide, offer hope, and get help and save a life. No registration is required, and cookies will be served.

For those unable to attend this 12:00 p.m. training, we will also offer the class again on Monday, January 5th at 5:30 p.m.
